

Caroline Taylor Named Recipient of the Health Heroes' Corporate Achievement Award for 2010

Inside Business recognized Caroline Taylor on February 8 at the Norfolk Airport Hilton for receiving the 2010 Health Heroes Award recipient for Corporate Achievement. Taylor was selected for her success in implementing unique, cost-effective programs to address the health care needs of businesses.

Caroline has created the only occupational medicine center in Hampton Roads that focuses entirely on employees for all clinical testing, workers compensation injuries, case management, wellness programs, physical ability assessments, critical services such as CPR and First Aid training, drug testing, customized physicals, and Fit for Duty health screenings. Much of the new facility's design and services are the result of listening to the needs of TMD's clients.

Photo of Health Heroes—Left to Right: Caroline Taylor, CEO, TMD; Ed Power, Publisher, Inside Business; Stella McClain, Director of Operations, TMD

Inside Business magazine presents the Health Care Hero Awards to honor those who optimize the word "hero" in the delivery of health care to the community. A panel of judges reviewed numerous submissions to select the 17 winners for different types of health care heroism.